FROM 42nd TO 59th STREETS

The Hotel St. Regis—The New Centre of New York Life.

"From Fourteenth to Forty-second Streets" used to be considered the central section of New York. This is true no longer. The city is constantly growing, and must eventually grow northward, since growth in all other directions is prevented by the North and East Rivers. From Forty-second to Fifty-ninth Streets is now the accepted central section. Recognizing the constant northward tendency of New York's growth, the projectors of the Hotel St. Regis located that splendid modern hotel on Fifth Avenue at the corner of Fifty-fifth Street. This hotel, thus superbly situated, has, however, much more than its convenience of location to recommend it. It has won for itself the well-deserved designation of "America's Finest." It is in no sense a vast, crowded public house of enormous size, but is ample in its proportions, while at the same time it affords the maximum of comfort and seclusion to its guests. It caters exclusively to people of refined taste and culture, to whom its exquisite furnishings and quiet, careful service distinguish it from all other hotels in the world. There is no superior in all the world in quality of food, skill in preparation and perfection of service; while the charges are no higher than those of other first-class hotels. Transient guests coming to New York and stopping at the Hotel St. Regis will find accommodations of the very highest grade in every particular and at standard rates. Single rooms are $3 and $4 a day; the same with private bath, $5 a day; for $6 for two people; while for a parlor, bed room and private bath the rates are $12 a day and up.

HONORS OF GREAT MOTOR RACE WON BY RAY HARROUN
Hughes Hughes (Mercedes), $500.
Total $25,000.
In addition to this sum in gold, the leading ten drivers shared in a distribution of side prizes, given by accessory makers, amounting to nearly $15,000.
The drivers of the ten leading cars will also receive bronze plaques from the speedway management.
Harroun was born at Spartansburg, Pa., and is twenty-nine years old. He holds a long list of records, and has won more firsts than any other driver during 1910. He has won the 200-mile trophy, the Atlanta speedway trophy, Los Angeles Motordrome 100-mile stock chassis trophy, Atlanta Automobile Association trophy, and the two hours free-for-all trophy of Los Angeles Motordrome.
50,000 People Witness Race.
Eighty-five thousand people massed about a two and one-half mile oval on the grounds of the Speedway ran the grueling race in response to the thrilling feats of the forty speed-mad automobile pilots, racing 500 miles for fame and gold.
Trains last night brought into the already overcrowded city added thousands of a motor enthusiast, with a roll of bank notes in his pocket, spent the night in the parks.
Many parties motored to Indianapolis from nearby cities, and perforce sat in their cars all night in Monument Place or drove through the boulevards.
At daybreak the downtown streets were alive with a sleepy throng on foot and in automobiles. The restaurants were packed and turned away hundreds of hungry persons. At 6 o'clock the multitude began moving on to the Speedway by train, street car and motor car. The road leading from the city to the Speedway was soon choked with automobiles, and at the entrances to the big race course struggled a good-natured mob. The crowd moved slowly, because impeded by hundreds of motor cars.
A cool breeze overnight had driven off the intense heat in which the city had sweated for two weeks. The sky was hazy, but there was no indication that the day would be marred by rain.
Many of the pilots and team managers had slept with their cars, fearing that their weeks' of patient testing might, through some mishap, come to nothing when the great trial of endurance should put its strain upon the motors.
Track Clean as a Floor.
The farm houses for miles about the speedway had entertained hundreds of men interested in one way or another in automobiles or accessories, and some of them were as eager that some certain car should win the race, as was any fan that their favorite driver should finish first. The brick track stretched away clean as a floor. At the turns it had been spread with alkali powder to cut the oil that would drip from the cars and otherwise make the curves dangerously slippery.

Carl G. Fisher, millionaire sportsman, president of the Speedway Association, superintended the posting of the militia, and the 1,000 special policemen engaged to guard the crowd in case of a panic in the stands and to keep the people off the deadly path of the racing cars.

At 8:20 o'clock all the cars were ready for the start of the race. It was announced that they would be sent away promptly at 10 o'clock. Mechanics and drivers nervously paced about the pits, eager for the call of the starter, the signal for the beginning of the greatest race of the history of the development of the automobile, a test of skill and endurance, in which the victor would win fame and fortune.

Shortly before the race started, the contest board of the American Automobile Association, upon recommendations of the manufacturers' contest committee, ruled that tire changes during the race be restricted to replenishment of the greater race of the history of the development of the automobile, a test of skill and endurance, in which the victor would win fame and fortune.
